

BADGER YOUTH KILLS FIANCEE, SELF

HOME EDITION

WISCONSIN NEWS

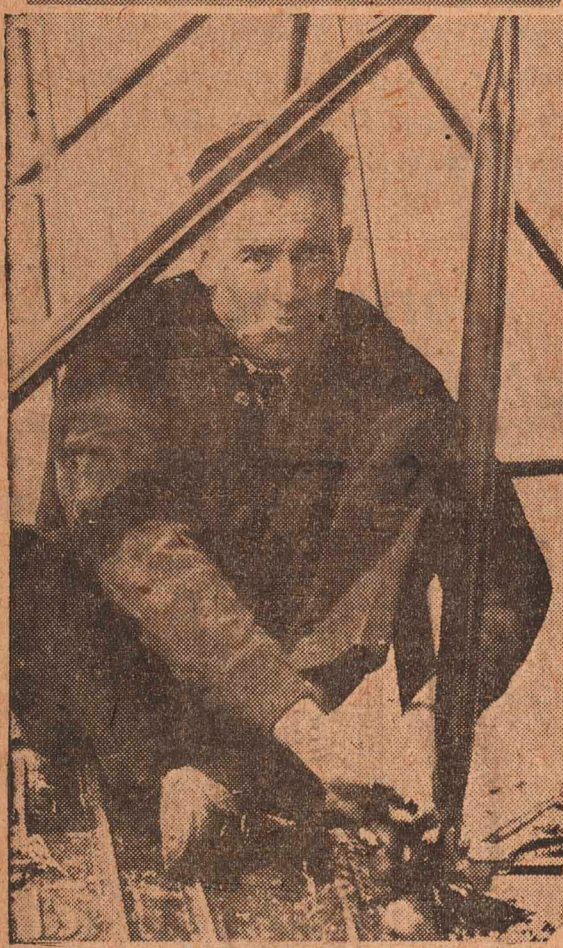

The Evening Wisconsin, Est. 1847; The Milwaukee Daily News, Est. 1885; The Evening Sentinel, Est. 1917.

MILWAUKEE, MONDAY, JUNE 18, 1928

Daily Milwaukee and County, 2 cents a copy on newsstands. Delivered by carrier 15 cents week. Outside of Milwaukee, 3 cents.

U. W. Confers Degree on Colonel Lindbergh

YANK GIRL FLIES ATLANTIC

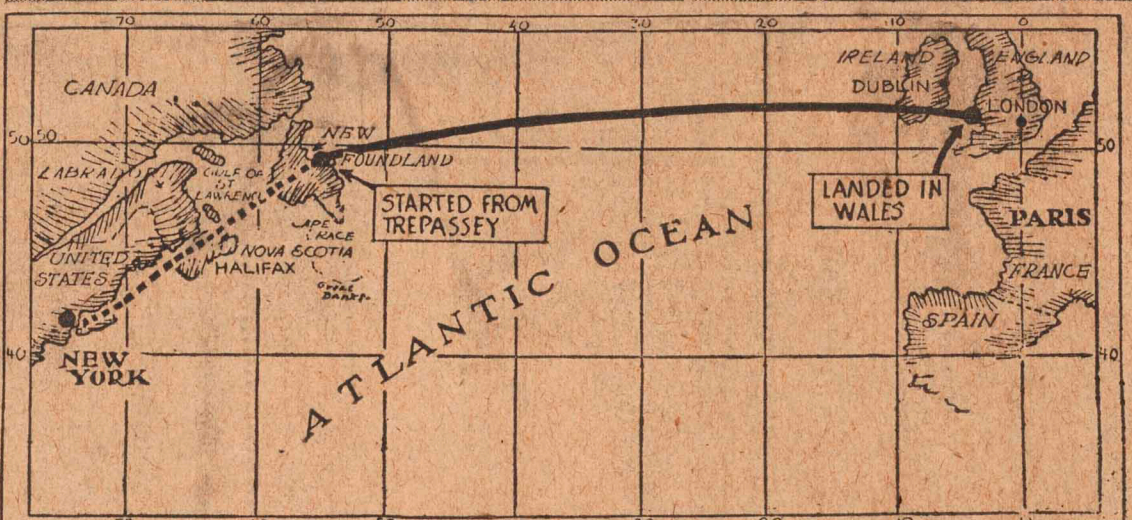

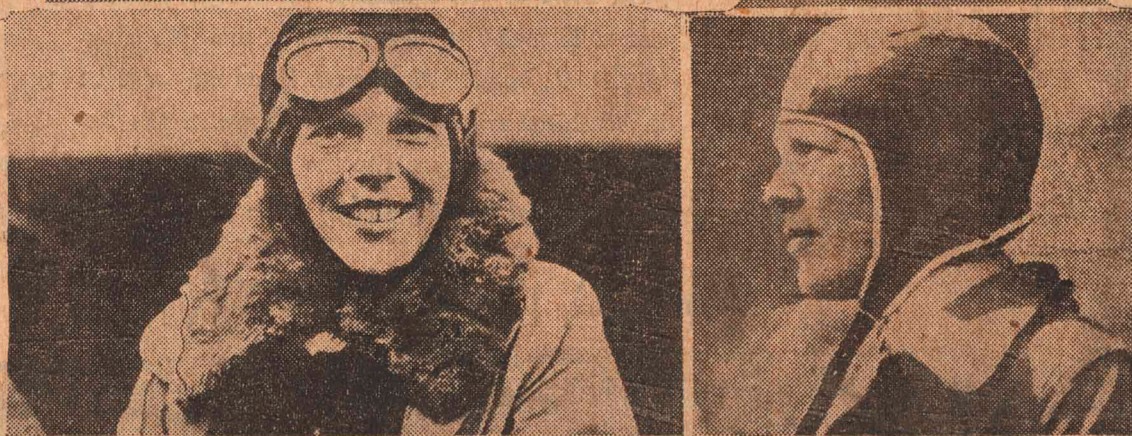

FIXING PONTOONS

Lou Gordon, mechanic of the plane "Friendship," is shown fixing the pontoons on the ship which today landed at Burryport, Wales, bearing him, Miss Amelia Earhart, first girl to fly the Atlantic, and Wilmer Stultz, pilot. The takeoff was from Trepassey, N. F.

PILOTED PLANE

Wilmer Stultz, shown above, was steering for Southampton, England, the "Friendship's" destination, when gas ran low and compelled a landing at the little Welsh port, about two hundred miles from London. The trio plans to continue to its goal.

COURSE OF PLANE AND AVIATRIX

At the top above are two views of Amelia Earhart, who has earned the title of first girl to fly the Atlantic. Her victory eliminates Mabel Boll, her rival, who was still in Newfoundland today waiting favorable conditions to start. Below is a diagram map showing the route followed by the "Friendship" in its flight to Wales from the North American continent. Stultz declared the weather was bad all the way, and he steered a "blind" course.

'FRIENDSHIP' GAINS WELSH COAST IN PERILOUS HOP

By International News Service.

LLANELLY, Carmarthenshire, Wales—The monoplane Friendship, which descended in Burry inlet at 12:40 o'clock, hopped off again at 5:37 after being refueled. It was understood that the fliers—Miss Amelia Earhart, Pilot Wilmer Stultz and Mechanic Louis Gordon—were bound for Southampton, their original goal.

By International News Service.

LLANELLY, Carmarthenshire, Wales—Dropping through a driving rainstorm, the transatlantic plane Friendship, which now bears the honor of carrying the first woman on a non-stop flight between America and Europe, came to anchor in Burry inlet, four miles off this port, just before 1 o'clock this afternoon.

Shortly before the plane drifted down upon the surface of the choppy water it had flown over this town at an altitude of from two hundred to three hundred feet. Crowds in the street, attracted by the roar of the motor, looked upward and saw a graceful red

(Turn to Page 4, Column 1.)

3.05-INCH RAINFALL DOES DAMAGE IN CITY

Milwaukee since yesterday noon has experienced the heaviest rainfall in four years.

The rain, which came down intermittently, sometimes as a drizzle and then a deluge, flooded the streets and basements of homes and business establishments, stalled automobiles and caused thousands of Milwaukeeans to wade ankle deep in water.

The total rainfall since 12:47 p. m. yesterday, until this noon was 3.05 inches.

During the twenty-four hour period of Aug. 3 to 4, 1924, 3.52 inches of rain fell.

Milwaukee received the full force of a rainstorm moving northeastward from Kansas, Weather Fore-

TEMPERATURES.
1 a. m.56	7 a. m.56
2 a. m.56	8 a. m.56
3 a. m.56	9 a. m.58
4 a. m.54	10 a. m.59
5 a. m.55	11 a. m.61
6 a. m.58	12 noon61

FORECAST.
Milwaukee and vicinity—Mostly cloudy tonight and Tuesday, with probably showers and thunder storms; warmer tonight; fresh to strong shifting winds.

W. P. Stewart declared today. The entire state was covered by the storm.

At Brule, where President Coolidge and his party are spending the summer (Turn to Page 2, Column 1.)

GUARD DRUGGIST AFTER EXTORTIONIST'S ATTACK

Alvin Shapiro, 847 Eleventh st., and the Yale pharmacy, 2631 McKinley av., of which he is manager, were under police guard today, the result of the bombarding of the drug store windows with bricks early yesterday as the supposed sequel to an unsuccessful attempt at extortion.

While Mr. Shapiro told police the bombardment was promised by a youth who wanted him to join a "protective association of druggists" a week ago George Hart-lein, president of the Milwaukee Pharmaceutical association, said no complaint had been made to that organization by any other druggists.

The store manager declared also that the man said the brick bombardment would be followed by actual bombings and that later his life would be endangered.

The smashing of the windows brought to light the fact that West Side police had been watching the

(Turn to Page 5, Column 2)

'Cal' Hears Sermon by Blind Layman

By LOLA BULLARD, Staff Correspondent.

SUPERIOR, Wis.—A blind man preached the word of God to President Coolidge yesterday—an old blind man of 70 years; not a preacher but a layman, a former dry goods salesman, who was converted at a revival meeting years ago and who lost his eyesight less than a decade ago.

He was John Taylor of Duluth, lay pastor of the little Brule church, and he stood dignified and straight in the simple pulpit, speaking clearly and firmly to the village folk who filled the pews in front of him, although he could not see them. He spoke just as he would have spoken had not the president of the United States been present. There was no tremor in his voice; his hand did not shake. His was a simple, direct message which he had to give, and he gave it in a simple, direct manner.

Mrs. Coolidge did not attend the services. She has not sufficiently recuperated (Turn to Page 6, Column 1)

BUTLER TO CONFER WITH COOLIDGE TODAY

By STAFF CORRESPONDENT. SUPERIOR, Wis.—William M. Butler, retiring chairman of the national Republican committee, was to visit President Coolidge at Cedar Island lodge today. Because of the rain, Mr. Coolidge postponed one day his initial visit to his executive offices in the Central High school here.

Before departing for the summer White House, Mr. Butler disclaimed any intention of giving the president a detailed account of what transpired at the Republican national convention at Kansas City. He explained that Everett Sanders, secretary to the president, probably already had done so in the lengthy conference he had with Mr. Coolidge at the summer lodge yesterday. Mr. Sanders, of course, attended the conference (Turn to Page 5, Column 1)

Wisconsin News Today

- Just Kids Page 15
- Dumb Dora Page 14
- Society Page 8
- Magazine Page 14
- Markets Page 16
- Radio Page 18
- Comics Page 15
- Cross-Word Puzzle Page 15
- Sports Pages 9, 10, 11
- Annie Rooney Page 1, Part 2

U. W. CONFERS DEGREE TO HONOR LINDBERGH

By KARL M. KAHN, Staff Correspondent.

MADISON, Wis.—The boy they flunked out here at the University of Wisconsin six years ago because he wouldn't tell his professors what they already knew was back today and received one of the highest honors his alma mater can bestow.

That boy, who walked from the university campus in 1922 as Charlie Lindbergh, unthought of and unnoticed, today stood before thousands of students and alumni as Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, first to conquer the Atlantic by air, and received from the hands of President Glenn Frank the honorary degree of doctor of laws.

Sharing in the honorary degrees with Col. Lindbergh were five other men whose contributions to science and education have made them outstanding figures in the nation. They are: Frederick Klaber, professor of

(Turn to Page 2, Column 7.)

FIND BADGER COUPLE SLAIN; SEE DEATH PACT

WAUSAU, Wis.—(By A. P.)—The bodies of Charles Morrison, 21, of Weston, Wis., four miles east of here, and Verna Tietz, 19, Wausau, his sweetheart, were found a quarter of a mile from his home late Sunday afternoon by two boys. The girl was found to have been shot twice and the boy once.

Sheriff Arthur Siewert is investigating the probability of a suicide pact in which Morrison shot his sweetheart and then turned the gun on himself.

According to investigators, the young man had left his home and called for Miss Tietz at 1:30 a. m. Sunday. They then drove to the Morrison farm, where their car was left, and according to the sheriff probably walked to the point where the killing occurred.

There was no evidence to indicate a struggle.

According to information received by Sheriff Siewert, Morrison had been in ill health. A number of notes he left, the contents of which were not revealed, indicated he had contemplated suicide for several weeks, the sheriff said.

A post mortem was being conducted by George Krueger, the coroner, this morning, and an inquest was to be held this afternoon.

Morrison worked in Wausau as a truck driver. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Avon Morrison. Miss Tietz was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. August Tietz.

Do You Know What That Means?
It is an axiom. Any stenographer can decipher it for you. The chances are every stenographer has written just that very sentence more than once. It means

LADIES MUST LOVE

But just how they must love the case of Mrs. Jante Wheeler, is another story. In fact it is young Wausau woman, for in several different stories. Take Janie was in love with Jack Abernathy, wealthy saw mill owner. But her sister, returning from New York with eight years experience in a chorus behind her, saw the danger. How Faith Parker, the sister, tried to save her makes a story that will cause you to gasp, make you hold your breath, almost make you close your eyes in fear for her. It's all told in

LADIES MUST LOVE

The wonder serial of the day ing next Monday in the Wisconsin News. You'll not want to miss it.

by Robert

NEWSEUM

Newseum Collection