Chicago, June 6.—Rival national suffrage organizations, meeting in Chicago to-day to perfect plans for an assault upon the resolutions committee of the Republican National Convention, declared to-day that they would recommend to the general approval of the convention the passage of a plank promising in positive terms the passage by the Congress of a woman's suffrage amendment.

At odds on Philippines.
A final declaration of policy is regarded by the Republicans as being in the hands of the Senate. It is quite likely to be adopted over this issue, and is at variance with a strong plank and Senate resolution submitted to the House.

Lindley M. Garrison, former Secretary of War, who has returned to the more or less peaceful practice of law in this city, appeared in the Supreme Court yesterday and fired a few verbal broadsides at Alan A. Ryan, son of Thomas F. Ryan. While the son was a plaintiff in one part of the suit, his father was a defendant in another part yesterday.

Alan A. Ryan sought an injunction to restrain David E. Kennedy and his wife, Mrs. Claire E. Kennedy, from procuring a loan for a corporation in which all are interested and in which Ryan owns 40 per cent of the stock. Laidor J. Kresel, for Ryan, said that his client was trying to prevent the defendants from voting themselves salaries of $200 and $100 a week.

Mr. Garrison explained that the company which manufactures cork tiling had increased its holdings from a few hundred dollars to $200,000 in less than seven years through work done by Kennedy. "Mr. Ryan," he said, "was brought into the case and was given a block of stock at no cost to himself because of his influence with a certain financial institution. Now Mr. Ryan says virtually, 'I want the control of this corporation.'"

Mr. Garrison said it was necessary for the corporation to borrow money from a bank, and that the corporation had no objection to negotiating the loan, but that an injunction was sought to prevent the voting of the salaries to Mr. and Mrs. Kennedy.

Mr. Ryan asked counsel to submit briefs.

Porchio Admits He Gave False Testimony in Oppenheim Suit.

Joseph Porchio, a barber, who left his occupation for the lucrative work of acting as a witness and supplying testimony, admitted yesterday that he had given false testimony. This, he said, was against Benjamin Oppenheim, who is suing the men who were directors of the Metropolitan Street Railway Company, who he alleged, conspired to disbar him.

Porchio said he was paid for his services by L. P. Julian, who was head of the company, and by George Bagge, on the approval of A. Robinson, chief counsel for the railway company at the time, who has been disbarred. Robinson is also one of the defendants in the Oppenheim suit, the others being Thomas Fortune Ryan, H. H. Zealand, Harry Payne Whitney and Ora Boren Jr.

Porchio said Julian had sent him to testify before Hamilton O'Connell, a Justice in the Oppenheim disbarment proceedings, telling him to give testimony which would bring down the suit. He had already given against Oppenheim. Asked whether he told the truth before the disbarment, he replied that he had lied when he declared that Oppenheim had suggested that he should give testimony which would bring down the suit.

He said on the stand that Robinson told him an agreement he made with Oppenheim, which he considered libelous. Part of his work in the Oppenheim case, which brought about the charges against Oppenheim, was to take a girl witness out of the city.

Speaking of this case, Porchio quoted Julian as saying: "If you are a witness for us we have lots of money."

Julian said he continued, "I saw the agent and could tell only the truth. No, he said: 'We want to take Oppenheim. Those two Jews have a lot of cases against us. He gave me $50 when I left the room.'

On another occasion, Julian said, according to the witness: "You supply all the witnesses for Oppenheim; he is going to lose that case. You letter come with us." Porchio said Julian promised to enrich him and that the investigator also promised a girl witness an outfit of clothes if she would change her testimony.

WOMAN'S SEVERED ARM FOUND IN HARLEM RIVER

Police Take Fingerprints as Sole
Clue to Possible Murder.

A woman's arm was found floating in the Harlem River, at 101st Street, yesterday afternoon. Coroner's Physician Lebane, at the Bellevue Hospital, said it was evidently the left arm of a woman about thirty and that it had probably been in the water about two weeks.

Fingerprints were taken by a policeman from the Bureau of Identification for the relief of the woman's family. The police will try to make an identification on the theory that the woman was murdered.

ASKS AID FOR WIDOW

Mothers' Fund Association Tells Distresses of Woman and Children.

The Widowed Mothers' Fund Association, 102 Boverly, makes an appeal for aid for a young widow and three little children who were bereaved last week. The husband was only twenty-nine years old. He became insane and died after being in an asylum for a long, happy day at Coney Island.

The widow is unable to do anything more at present than care for her three children. Relatives have assisted, but are very poor themselves and can do but little more. All gifts for the relief of the family may be sent to Mrs. Henry Zuckerman, 62 Broadway, or to the rooms of the association, 102 Boverly.

Thank offers to E. C. O' for the gift of $1, and "In Memory of Elizabeth" for $2.

2,000 ORPHANS SEE CONEY

Where They Enjoy Day.
Two thousand orphans under the care of thirteen Long Island institutions enjoyed their own minds they spent a long, happy day at Coney Island yesterday.

They arrived at the resort early in the morning in 250 automobiles of the Long Island Automobile Club. The blatant notes of two bands they traction was thrown.

After they had surfeited themselves in wild rides, the animals and the "Aerial Night Attack" they marched to Feltman's restaurant for dinner. At twilight the long line of automobiles carried them away from the resort.

Coykendall Columbia Trustee

Frederick Coykendall, of the class of '95 Arts, was yesterday elected a trustee of Columbia University for six years by the Alumni Federation convention. Mr. Coykendall is one of the most popular of the younger graduates. He is president of the Alumni Association, and one of the leaders in the Columbia University Club.

The sale at present prices of the "Handy Volume" Issue of the Encyclopaedia Britannica closes June 17th, 7.33 P. M. After that, $11 to $19 more

NEARING THE END

If there had been no war — if the shortage in dyes, drugs, chemicals and hundreds of other things which it occasioned had not sent prices soaring to the skies; — if there had not been the same serious increase in the price of paper, leather, printing ink (and an actual famine of some sorts of binding materials); — if the publishers of the Britannica had not suddenly been confronted with the problem not only of heavily increased costs, but also of a scarcity in India paper and of binding leathers, so that they had to notify us that our present contract with them could not be renewed, we might have gone on selling the new "Handy Volume" Issue of the Britannica at the present low prices for a long while, as we had intended.

This is impossible. In spite of the enormous printing which we had arranged for (which made it possible for us to sell the complete new unabridged Eleventh Edition of the Britannica, in a small-page form, at one-third the price of the larger-page Cambridge University issue) the issue has been taken so rapidly that only a small number of sets now remain and we cannot secure any more at anything like present prices.

For such further sets as we shall be able to obtain we shall have to increase the price by $11 per set for the cheaper bindings to $19 per set for the more expensive bindings (and there is no telling how long even these prices can be maintained).

We wish to give the public full warning. More than 200,000 persons have written us to ask for our large illustrated 130-page descriptive book about the Encyclopaedia Britannica and the new "Handy Volume" Issue. This means that a tremendous number will come rushing in at the last minute.

We send the entire 29 volumes upon the payment of a single dollar. Then you have three weeks with the books in your own home to make up your mind if they are just what you want. (See our unconditional guarantee.)

But only ten days remain—ten working days.

On June 17th at 7.33 p. m. our offer is closed.

Any order postmarked before that day, date and hour, we will endeavor to fill if possible, though we cannot guarantee any particular style of binding unless your order is sent immediately.

You are the judge—your family the jury!

Remember, that when you sign the order form below and send us your dollar the sale is not closed. All this does is to secure the shipment to you of 29 volumes of the new "Handy Volume" Issue in whatever style of binding you desire. Then you have three weeks in which to examine the volumes in your own home, use them every day, discuss them with your family, learn how wonderfully valuable this great work may be to you and every member of your household, especially to your growing children. Then if for any reason whatsoever you decide you do not wish to keep the books, you may return them and we will refund your dollar and all shipping charges as well.

You take no risk. We take it all.

Sets may be seen and orders left at

closes June 17th, 7.33 P. M. After that, $11 to $19 more

AN ASTONISHING HISTORY

For two years short of a century and a half the standard—the foremost work of reference in all the world—its new edition costing more than any other work of reference ever published in any language, and forming the newest and most complete compend of human knowledge that exists—nearly 75,000 sets of this new edition sold already, involving a total of $14,000,000—for one new edition of a single work—bringing the total sale since its beginning 148 years ago up to over a million sets, representing a total of over $100,000,000 (and a total of more volumes sold than any other work ever published with perhaps the single exception of the English Bible and Shakespeare).

—a work that has engaged the collaboration of more distinguished men—the greatest minds of each generation—than any other work ever published in any language

—a work that for 148 years has never had a rival in its own language and has never had an equal in any other.

Need any more be said?

This is the record of the Encyclopaedia Britannica. From the days of Sir Walter Scott, of Lord Jeffrey and Thomas Young, it has been counted an honor to be invited to write for this distinguished work, and the most eminent men of each successive period have written its articles.

—not merely the most distinguished minds of English-speaking peoples, in Great Britain, in America, but many of the foremost authorities of other nations as well.

Far back the famous Arago and Biot, two of the most eminent of Frenchmen of science, set the fashion, and since that time there have been contributions from the distinguished men of almost every nation in Europe—to the new Eleventh Edition contribute many of the foremost minds of Germany, like Harnack, Ostwald, Meyer, Driesch, Verworn and Ernst; of Holland, like Lorenz, Van Der Waals and van't Hoff; of France, like Babelon, Bémont, Esmein, Luchaire, de Lur, like Villari; of Sweden, like Nansen; of Japan, like Kikuchi; of Russia, like Prince Kropotkin; and so on throughout the list.

Yet, in spite of all this high scholarship, in spite of its unquestioned authority, the Encyclopaedia Britannica is almost entirely practical and useful book full of interest and unexpected charm, and expressly designed to meet the needs of busy men and women of today.

—And this is the work which you can now obtain for the first time—the new edition, absolutely complete, not one of its 20,000 pages changed by a line, at a popular price (only one-third that charged for the larger page Cambridge University issue of identically the same work).

—the complete work sent you upon the payment of a single dollar. After that every monthly payment, according to the style of binding you select.

Our Guarantee

We guarantee that the "Handy Volume" Issue is authorized by the publishers of the Encyclopaedia Britannica; that the contents are identical, page for page, including every map and illustration, with the Cambridge University issue now selling at three times the price; that it is manufactured by the same printers and binders as the more expensive book; that it is printed on the same quality of India paper, from newly made plates; and that, because it is smaller, it is easier to handle than the Cambridge issue.

We guarantee complete and entire satisfaction with the contents of the Encyclopaedia Britannica and with the form of our "Handy Volume" Issue. To anyone who, for any reason is not satisfied, and returns the set within three weeks, we guarantee to return all he has paid (including shipping charges).
